World Bank Meetings, 2003 in Dubai

DCS 6000 Digital Conference System

The World Bank Meetings in Dubai was hailed as the world's largest, with around 27,000 guests. The conference took place in "Dubai International Conference Centre", which is located in the Dubai World Trade Centre.

Bond Communication, Dubai and Informationsteknik Scandinavia A/S, Denmark were the overall audio visual supplier including all conference equipment. In most of the rooms the digital DCS 6000 interpreting system - with a capacity of up to 32 languages, were used.

The conference closed in the plenary conference hall with a ceremony where interpreting facilities, among other things, were provided for 6000 people. The entire closing ceremony - including the interpreting, sound, lighting, video, large display and computer equipment, as well as the graphic mixer, teleprompter, communication and camera team for recording, were successfully controlled by 12 engineers from Informationsteknik.

The stability and the perfect sound quality of the DCS 6000 Digital Conference System was not at all affected by the many required set-ups and dismantlings during the event in Dubai.
